

Why Do College Students Love Apps?

Something for Everyone...

Last October, Apple announced that they now have over 1 million apps available for download. No matter if you're looking for a GPS system, cookbook, or personal trainer, there is an app for virtually everything.

Easy and Convenient to Use...

Apps are designed to make the existing functionality of your device more intuitive, while also making online information easier to access. Smartphones, iPhones, notebooks, and iPads are all convenient, lightweight, and efficient, which makes them even more attractive to today's students.

How Can Interpretation Adapt to the Times?

In order for interpretation to stay effective, interpreters need to embrace technology by designing apps of their own that cater to college students.

Accessible from Everywhere...

College students are known for being on the go. We don't always have time to access our desktop computer or open a book to find what we're looking for. Apps allow us the convenience of accessing the information we need from anywhere with wi-fi or cellular service.

Want to design your own app?
Visit appdesigner.com to get started!