

Title: A Students Perspective: The Power of Encouragement

Author Name: Polly Taber

Professional Title: HSU Environmental Management and Protection Student

Organization: HSU

Street Address/P.O. Box: 1 Harpst Street

City, State, Zip: Arcata, CA 95521

Phone number: (510)-828-6721

E-mail Address: plt12@humboldt.edu

Author Name: Gena Wood

Professional Title

Organization: Humboldt State University

Street Address/P.O. Box: 1 Harpst Street

City, State, Zip: Arcata, CA 95521

Phone number: 949-310-7946

E-mail Address: grw67@humboldt.edu

Abstract (Approximately 100 words):

Rediscover what you might have forgotten along the way. The power of encouragement has everlasting impacts. We will discuss the importance of encouragement, not only in the field of interpretation but in our daily lives. By creating a cycle of encouragement we can empower everyone from our audiences to our surrounding communities. Through recognition, affirmation and repetition we can harness the ability to inspire and the power of encouragement. We will discuss ways to incorporate encouragement into your programs and daily lives.

Keywords (Please separate keywords with commas and lowercase them unless they are proper nouns):

encouragement, recognition, affirmation, repetition, empowerment, self efficacy, student perspective.

Introduction

Self introductions, introduction of encouragement, etymology, what it means to the audience and why a student's perspective matters in the growing field of interpretation.

Body

The cycle of encouragement includes recognition, affirmation and repetition. Through our perspective as students we go into detail about how our own cycles of encouragement have blossomed into empowerment, self efficacy and the desire to share our inspiration with others.

Conclusion

Discuss ways to integrate encouragement into your daily lives and workplace.